

A Timely Word and an Act of Love

Dennis & Lisa were at one of their lowest points in the drama of Zian Zachary Allen and a condition of his intestines called Intussusception. Lisa was in tears as she watched them wheel him off to surgery for the 6th time. We thought that he had his final surgery and only recovery was left; but complications arose.

We walked out of the PICU very sadly; no one could say anything that would be comforting. Suddenly the door burst opened and Kim walked out with a look on her face and in her eyes that projected just one message: Dennis & Lisa need some encouragement.

A little love and a human embrace go a long way toward changing sad feelings. Now look at the bright faces that resulted from a hug and an encouraging word.

Don't you think this picture should be displayed at the hospital for encouragement to other parents whose children are going through a struggle for life?
